

Re: Dri-Design Metal Panels and Materials

Dear Friends,

In the weeks following the tragic fire at Grenfell Tower in London, Dri-Design has received many inquiries about the composition and combustibility of our metal panel system. In response, we would like to reassure everyone that Dri-Design Panels are not manufactured with ACM, MCM or any composite materials. Dri-Design is, and has always been, a single skin metal panel system, and therefore, is non-combustible.

Please contact us with any further questions.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "J. Zeeff".

Jason Zeeff
Vice President of Sales
Dri-Design, Inc.